A Systematic, Structured Approach

Our core investment beliefs are based on decades of financial research conducted by Eugene Fama and Kenneth French at the University of Chicago.

Academic research has shown that risk and return are related. Over 96% of a portfolio's return can be explained by its asset allocation and exposure to risk premiums. Diversification helps reduce uncompensated risks.

Investment grade bonds are used to mitigate portfolio risk and to generate a predictable stream of fixed income. In general, our total portfolio approach looks to equities to generate higher expected returns and uses fixed income to dampen volatility.

We focus on factors that can be controlled such as keeping costs low, minimizing taxes and asset allocation. Since asset allocation is a critical driver of the portfolio's returns, we systematically monitor and rebalance the portfolio. We do not speculate with our client's money. We implement a systematic, structured approach to investing customized to the specific needs and risk tolerance of each client.

Independent Registered Investment Advisors

We are financial advisors that bring discipline and clarity to the investment process, helping you reach your financial goals. We are an independent, fee-only advisor and have a fiduciary duty to our clients. As a fiduciary, we must disclose any conflicts of interest and we put the interests of our clients first.

Fees, based on the value of investments we manage, are our only source of income. We never receive commissions, 12b-1 charges, or other revenue from third parties that create conflicts of interest with our clients.
